Applications are invited for appointment to a Temporary College Lectureship in History for two years. Applicants should have experience in teaching History either in the Historical Tripos or equivalent, as well as a record of research and publication commensurate with their stage of career. The successful applicant will be able to supervise to a high standard Paper 24 of Part I of the Historical Tripos (American History after 1865), and at least one further paper out of either Paper 22 (American History before 1865), Paper 18 (European History since 1890), Papers 6 or 11 (British History since 1890), or Part II, Paper 5 (Political Thought and Political Philosophy since 1890).

About 12 undergraduate students are admitted to Trinity each year to read History.

For further details about the teaching of History at Trinity see:
http://www.trin.cam.ac.uk/admissions/ug/subjects/history

The duties of a College Lecturer include:

- Teaching of undergraduates in History in supervisions and some classes for at least 12 hours per week during the 20 teaching weeks of the year.

- Directing studies of undergraduate students, which involves advising students on their studies, arranging their supervisions, encouraging their progress and providing letters of reference. An entertainment allowance is provided to help Directors of Studies get to know their students. College Lecturers are also encouraged to attend the Matriculation and Graduation Dinners.

- Actively participating in the admissions process. This involves carrying out admission interviews, usually over the course of one week after the end of Michaelmas term, and taking part in the ensuing selection meetings. There are Open Days each year when sixth-formers come to College, a Residential for prospective applicants in Humanities subjects, and other access and widening participation initiatives aimed at attracting more and better candidates, to which Lecturers are expected to contribute.

In addition, College Lecturers are expected to devote themselves to learning and research in their chosen field.

The stipend

The Lectureship will require 12 hours per week of College teaching (for 20 weeks per year). The basic stipend for this post will be £41,248 together with other benefits of College membership. Variation is made for supervision above (or below) the specified amount, and additional payments are made for direction of studies and for interviewing candidates for admission. The post is pensionable.

Applications

Application should be made via the online application system:
https://app.casc.cam.ac.uk/fas_live/trinhistory.aspx

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, including details of publications and teaching experience, and should also ensure that two referees have uploaded references to the application system on their behalf before the closing date of Friday 2 August 2019. Shortlisted candidates will be invited to submit for consideration a published article or chapter arising from their historical research; such candidates will be notified by Wednesday 7 August 2019 and should have their work ready for submission by Friday 9 August 2019. It is expected that interviews of shortlisted applicants will be held on Wednesday 14 August 2019.

Professor C Barnard
Senior Tutor
July 2019